

The University of Florida allows payments to be provided to employees for Additional Employment on an as-needed basis in order to meet specified university needs, including administrative purposes (AMN), employment allowances (ALW), additional or as-needed work (ADU), awards (AWD), fellowships (FEL), and productivity (INP) as well as to accommodate non-resident aliens.

These additional payments are used to compensate for work as described below—most typically for work that is outside of an employee’s normal scope that is not expected to be ongoing. All of these payments must be entered in ePAF and require 1st and 2nd level approval.

Nonexempt employees cannot receive additional payments for additional hours worked in their primary position. In most cases, additional payments to nonexempt employees outside of their primary employer must be equal to or greater than the overtime rate equivalent of their primary position.

Secondary appointments are appropriate when work is to be completed by an employee already working at UF in another department, college, or vice-presidential area. Compensation to nonexempt employees for secondary appointments must be equal to or greater than the overtime rate equivalent of the primary position. The HR-600 Form (Request for Approval of Additional University Compensation) is required when an employee is receiving a secondary appointment in a different college/administrative unit from their primary appointment regardless of total FTE between both appointments; the form should be completed before the employee begins work.

Special Pay Increases are pay mechanisms available for TEAMS and Faculty employees for ongoing additional work, market equity adjustments, counteroffers, and sustained superior performance. They can take the form of an increase to the employee’s base salary or a one-time payment, both requiring SPI forms to be filled out (only TEAMS require approval by Classification and Compensation) and attached to their ePAFs. For any additional questions on SPIS, please contact Classification and Compensation (compensation@ufl.edu).

This resource guide includes both policy guidelines and breakdowns for specific earnings code as reflected below. These earning codes are organized by category and descriptive reasons; eligibility is also indicated. “ALL” does not include student employees unless specifically referenced. A generic lump sum payment (LSP) category also is provided for specific and approved reasons.

In order to comply with the requirements of the Affordable Care Act, or ACA, certain payments require the identification of hours worked (requested via the ePAF) in order to determine eligibility for health insurance.

If the exempt or nonexempt employee is working independently—without direction from UF about what and how the work is performed—then it may be appropriate to compensate him or her as an independent contractor instead. However, the general rule is an individual cannot be paid as an independent contractor if UF has the right to control what will be done and how it will be done; this applies even if the individual is given freedom of action. Although an employee can be an independent contractor concurrent with UF employment, the circumstances are uncommon and are subject to review to meet IRS guidelines. Additional information specific to Academic Services is provided here: <http://aa.ufl.edu/media/aaufledu/policies/Independent-Contractors-Policy.pdf>.

Please note: If a job record was created via Hire ePAF, specifically to provide an individual with an additional payment (for any earnings code/reason combination), it is the department’s responsibility to promptly terminate that employment record via ePAF. Failure to do so can negatively impact the individual’s future ACA/benefits eligibility as well as create other obstacles.
